

Darwinism for store shelves

A good product is in many respects reduced to a prerequisite for being able to participate in the battle for consumers' money. In order to be successful, packaging must also be aesthetically pleasing and have a design that attracts potential buyers. It must stand out in stores. Take the time to look round the shelves next time you're out shopping. That's where the battle is really being fought.

Most stores today are self-service and consumers themselves pick up the goods they need. Most know in advance what they are going to buy, but few will have decided what brand to choose. That decision is generally made on the spot.

We have developed and produced attractive and saleable packaging material for some of the world's most popular brands within cosmetics, consumer electronics, food products, tobacco and alcohol.

Efficient production of standard products and customised solutions

Skultuna Flexible has state-of-the-art production machinery for manufacturing material solutions. No matter whether this involves long or short production runs, we always work smart. To be able to satisfy our customers' requirements and expectations for efficient production machinery, we continuously invest in new technology and projects to increase capacity.

Good packaging made of the right material gives the product an appearance, or, more accurately, an appeal that can influence consumer choice. A process that only the strongest, best and most suitable survive.

Materials that creates new possibilities

Skultuna Flexible develops and manufacture a complete range of laminates for the luxury packaging industry.

Our extensive experience in manufacturing packaging laminates in large or small volumes ensures you have access to steady, cost effective supply of material at the agreed, uniform quality. All our operations are certified according to ISO 9001:2000, ISO 14001:2004 and meet all criteria for manufacturing for the packaging industry.

Standard materials can be manufactured according to your specification and we also have the possibility to develop new material combinations. The material can be pre-treated for printing or even be embossed in a suitable structure. Material can be lacquered in nearly all different colours. We deliver material in reels, sheets or other special formats.
